Back to Life
Written by Jervis Campbell

Oh it stays like a sickness
The pain of this distance
From the love I've known

Been dry as a desert
And though I've tried to be better my soul feels like stone

And what can I say here
There's no one to blame here
My mind is my own

But I feel like a child
Lost in the wild
And I just wanna go home

I've been a dead man for too long
Oh I've been losing the war inside
I've been a dead man for too long
So won't you come now
And make things right
And bring me back to life

And take all the worry
The hate and the hurry
This poison I've tried

And wake me in Your sunrise
And raise me in Your good light
And I will abide

I've been a dead man for too long
Oh I've been losing the war inside
I've been a dead man for too long
So won't You come now
and make things right
And bring me back to life

I need life
I need love
I need time
I need touch
I need you more than I know

So will you bring me back?
I need life
I need love
I need time
I need touch
I need you more than I know
So will you bring me back?

I've been a dead man for too long
Oh I've been losing the war inside
I've been a dead man for too long

I've been a dead man for too long

I need life
I need love
I need time
I need touch
I need you more than I know
So will you bring me back?
